This is the first in a series on Scandinavian Immigration to the US with a focus on living history. Learn about life in 'the old country,' reasons to emigrate, the transition to a new language and culture, and building success in a new environment from those who lived the life!

Fritse Hakkinen was born in Odense, Denmark & lived there and in several small Danish villages. Receiving her education in both Denmark and the US she has enjoyed a career in nursing with the last 23 years as a Hospice nurse helping patients and their families with pain and symptom control. She is now semi-retired with time to enjoy her grandchildren and big dogs.
